TRN-0006604205/TD-0007232193	Set up a vegetable garden to provide a tribal family assured regular income.	Urmila Mehar	Success	16-Sep-2017	This tribal village in the naxal affected part of Chattisgarh is a self sustained village where the tribes have their own ways of living a peaceful life with nature. However, with increasing requirements and lifestyle, the cost of living for these tribals have also gone up to an extent. They have started realising the importance of being more market oriented and improve their lifestyle thereby. Urmila is the only bread earner in her family of 4 where in her father-in-law stays along with her two children who attend a nearby panchayat school. They own a piece of land which produces variety of vegetables which are then sold in the local market. She confirmed of having found the support of Janmitram Kalyan Samiti to set up a vegetable garden thus providing her with regular income even during the off season.	Pauras
